RESEARCH & DESIGN PROJECTS

Rethinking the KSRTC Chalo ETM Workflow	Case Study Link
Self-Initiated UX Research & Design Study – Not affiliated with KSRTC or Chalo

- Conducted field research as a regular KSRTC commuter, identifying a recurring operational failure: conductors committing to incorrect payment modes before passenger confirmation, with no recovery mechanism post-print.
- Employed field observation and contextual interview with a KSRTC conductor to validate the problem and understand workflow constraints, pressure points, and downstream settlement impacts.
- Mapped a 6-stage user journey revealing the breakdown occurs before ticket printing, making error prevention more effective than post-print recovery.
- Proposed two design interventions: (1) a lightweight payment confirmation step pre-print, and (2) a Recent Tickets log for controlled post-print correction for eligible Cash transactions, preserving the audit trail.

Tejasvi'26 - Brand Identity & Visual System	Project Link
Design Head, MEC Intercollegiate Fest – Marian Engineering College, Mar 5–7, 2026

- Led end-to-end brand identity for Tejasvi 2026, the annual intercollegiate cultural fest, themed “The Ritual of Fire.”
- Designed a mythology-driven Promethean flame logo, Bella Sophie wordmark, and full visual system including color palette, typography, iconography, posters, and merchandise.

D4D - Design for Democracy	Project Link
Independent Research & Visual Communication Project

- Investigated how political culture influences visual communication, examining the use of typography, colour, imagery and symbolism in shaping public perception.
- Synthesised the findings into a structured visual narrative that demonstrates how design can influence civic discourse and democratic engagement.

GrowIt, A Unified Distributor Experience	Project Link
Product Design Project

- Designed a unified digital platform for mutual fund distributors, focused on simplifying fragmented workflows and creating a more consistent, efficient experience.
- Developed an intuitive interface that centralises essential distributor activities while improving information clarity, navigation and overall usability.
